

A Name Twice Made Famous, Now a Shining Mark for Imitators.

The name "Chase," twice made famous, is a shining mark for the unscrupulous to pounce upon and appropriate in order to foist upon the public their worthless preparations. These birds of prey, by using the name Chase, expect the public to be fooled into believing they are the medicines of Dr. A. W. Chase, who first became noted as the author of the world famous Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and family physician, and whose fame is now doubly increased by the wonderful success of his Nerve Pills, with Nerve, Brain and Blood troubles. They play upon the name Chase, but dare not use the initials "A. W."

They imitate, but dare not counterfeit the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, which identifies the Nerve Pills now recognized as infallible for building up pale, weak, thin-blooded, nerve exhausted sufferers.

Who are nerve-tired and brain weary. Who are easily exhausted. Who are wakeful—cannot sleep. Who have nervous headache.

They remove the cause of blood impurities, securing refreshing sleep and impart strength.

They build up people who find their strength and vigor waning.

They settle irritated nerves, replace languor and lassitude with energy and animation. Cure Nervous Dyspepsia.

CAUTION.—The protection to the public in securing the genuine and original Dr. A. W. Chase preparation is in seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., on each box. These and these only are the genuine. Do not be satisfied with anything bearing the name "Chase" without the initials A. W. so etc. of Druggists or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicines Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

A SENATOR DEAD

At His Summer Home Senator McMillan is Suddenly Called.

ILL BUT A FEW HOURS

Greatest Sorrow Felt Throughout Michigan His Adopted State.

End of An Honorable Career As a Citizen and a Public Servant.

Washington, Aug. 11.—A dispatch was received here yesterday announcing the death of Senator James McMillan of Michigan at an early hour yesterday morning at his summer home at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass. Death was the result of heart failure following congestion, after an illness of a very few hours. The news came as a great shock to his friends here, as when the senator left Washington shortly after the adjournment of congress he appeared to be in good health and looked forward with much satisfaction to a quiet and restful summer. While no information at that point has been received here, the expectation is that his remains will be taken to Detroit, Mich., and be deposited in the family vault at Elmwood cemetery. The body of his son, Captain John H. McMillan, who served in the Spanish war and who died several months ago, rests there. The senator leaves a widow, three sons, W. C. Phillip and Frank, all of Detroit, and a daughter, Mrs. McMillan and her daughter accompanied the senator to Manchester after the adjournment of congress.

Senator McMillan was a native of Ontario, having been born in Hamilton, May 12, 1838, but in early life removed to Michigan and for many years has been prominently identified with the business interests and political life of that state, having for a number of terms been chairman of the Republican state committee. He was a member of the United States senate since March 4, 1889.

FEAR OF INSANITY

Prompts a Michigan Farmer to Kill His Wife and Then Himself.

Ithaca, Mich., Aug. 11.—S. S. Sowers, a well-to-do farmer who has been living in this village for several months, last night killed his wife with an ax as she lay in bed and then hung himself in his barn. Despondency over the fear that he was becoming insane and grief over the death of his only daughter ten years ago impelled him to commit the crimes. Two weeks ago Sower consulted a local physician as to his mental condition and was told that his mentality was gradually growing weaker. In a remarkable letter that was found addressed to his son, Sower said:

"Dear Ellis: This could not be any other way. I knew weeks ago that it must be insanity or suicide for me, and I decided that insanity would be worse for all of us than suicide. But I could not possibly bring myself to feel that it would be worse than cowardly to leave mamma to the awful sufferings and death that either insanity or suicide would mean for her. So I decided it would be best for all and especially for her, to take her with me. What can I say to you that will in any way help you to bear this awful blow? Nothing. * * * No one is to blame for this. My wife has been an affectionate, patient and self-sacrificing woman and my son a most dutiful boy. I could not explain, so I would be understood. I have no fear whatever for the future, as I have done the very best I could with the light and strength I have had through life. No just God would punish me for what I could not help. Good-bye all S. S. SOWER."

Boy Wrecked the Train.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 11.—Delbert Preston, a 15-year-old boy, made a confession yesterday to the authorities of having caused the wreck of a passenger train on the Rock Island near Omaha July 24, by which one man was killed and several others injured. According to his story he was spending an idle hour on the track and picked up an iron spike, with the head toward the coming passenger train.

General Grant to Rest.

Manila, Aug. 11.—General Jesse M. Lee will leave here today for Tacloban, Island of Leyte, to relieve General F. D. Grant.

GOOD WORK

Much Accomplished in Affairs of Cuba.

Washington, Aug. 11.—The bureau of insular affairs of the war department has prepared a statement showing what the United States achieved during the occupation of Cuba from the time the military government was established, July 18, 1898, until May 19, 1902. At the close of hostilities in Cuba, it is stated, the country was in a state of devastation and ruin, both as to its political organization as well as its industrial condition. Without precedent to guide and many of them without previous experience in state affairs, the officers of the United States army at once undertook to set up a form of government which would provide sufficient revenues for the immediate needs and which might be developed into a stable and lasting system. The work accomplished is set forth in detail and makes a showing not only gratifying to the war department, but one that will surprise the country when the difficulties encountered are considered.

Reunion of Army of the Philippines.

Council Bluffs, Aug. 11.—The program for the reunion this week of the Society of the Army of the Philippines in this city has been completed, and it is expected that delegates and visitors will begin to arrive in the city today, although the first regular session will not be held until Wednesday. The city will be in gala attire, and business houses and private dwellings over the entire city will present a profusion of flags and bunting. Arrangements have been made for the entertainment of several thousand people, among them some of the most prominent military men of the country. On the first day of the reunion delegates will be welcomed to register at society headquarters, and in the evening will occur a reception at Lake Manawana. Among the speakers on that occasion will be Major General Smith, who recently returned from the Philippines.

Thursday will be the big day, during which will occur the parade, which will be reviewed by Governor Cummins of Iowa and Governor Savage of Nebraska and their staffs and the distinguished generals and other prominent men. A large detail of regulars from Fort Crook, two regiments of national guardsmen from Iowa and Nebraska, and cadets from this city and Omaha, headed by several of the best military bands of the country, will march in the parade.

On Friday will occur the principal business session of the society at which officers will be elected and other business transacted.

"Government by Injunction."

Cincinnati, Aug. 11.—"Government by injunction," the appellation which union labor applies to steps resorted to by employers to restrain striking employees from carrying on boycotts or otherwise harassing business interests, will receive attention from the International Typographical union's convention, which began at the Pike opera house here today. Upon this line President Lynch will make the following recommendation: "The convention should express its disapprobation of the injunction evil. A local union should not invoke the law except when compelled to do so, and then the very best legal talent should be secured. A cheap lawyer is about on a par with a cheap printer."

Felish Victorious.

Port of Spain, Island of Trinidad, B. W. I., Aug. 11.—News has reached here from Venezuela, that after three days very severe fighting in the streets of Barcelona, in the state Bermudez, the revolutionists under the command of General Penaloza, captured the town from the government forces. The government lost sixty men and General Ruperto Bravo.

King in Good Condition.

London, Aug. 11.—The following bulletin concerning the king's condition was issued yesterday: "His majesty bore the strain of the coronation ceremony perfectly well and experienced but little fatigue. The king had a good night's rest and his condition is in every way satisfactory."

In Honor of King Edward.

Manila, Aug. 11.—Forty-one American cruisers and gunboats assembled and were dressed at Cavite Saturday and fired twenty-one guns at noon in honor of the coronation of King Edward.

Delayed by Weather.

San Francisco, Aug. 11.—Owing to washouts in Colorado, the delegates to annual convocation of the supreme lodge Knights of Pythias which will meet next Tuesday, have been delayed.

BIG ZINC DEAL

A New and Mighty Combination in the Field.

FEW MINES LEFT OUT

A Giant Combine Being Effected at St. Louis—Many Mines Included.

An Organization Designed to Control the Lead and Zinc Market.

St. Louis, Aug. 11.—The Lead and Zinc News today says: What will be the greatest lead combination in this country is now nearing its consummation. While its promoters are more than ordinarily reticent, it is definitely known that the scope of the merger will include most of the large white lead plants east of the Mississippi river, the principal pipe and sheet lead plants, a number of shot towers and companies manufacturing products in which lead forms one of the chief components.

Included in the merger will be the Union Lead and Oil company, which was organized last year by the Ryan Whitney coterie of capitalists with a capital of $10,000,000 and which controls the Bailey process of manufacturing white lead. Overtures made to induce the National Lead company to join the merger are said to be favorably looked upon by a portion of the directorate.

Behind the merger are the Ryan-Whitney and American Smelting and Refining company interests. Options have been secured on a number of corrodant plants of the country, notably the Chadwick company of Boston and the Raymond company of Chicago. If the merger is completed successfully, it will control the lead manufacturing interests of the country and indirectly through its alliances, the pig lead markets.

The plans of the promoters favor a corporation with a capitalization of not less than $50,000,000. The papers will probably be filed in New Jersey during the next sixty days, although definite announcement of the status of the merger is looked for before the expiration of that time.

The lead producing properties in southeastern Missouri, Colorado and the Coeur d'Alenes will not be included in this merger, but will be the basis of a second corporation with a capitalization of not less than $25,000,000, to be consummated after the manufacturing merger has been effected.

Italians Rioting.

New York, Aug. 11.—Pietro Guardiani, a Neapolitan fish dealer of Brooklyn, was murdered by a Sicilian, Antonio Ziroto, in Mulberry Bend, yesterday. Ziroto is 82 years of age, but he wielded a knife, which his wife handed him, with deadly precision and force sufficient to sever Guardiani's jugular.

The Neapolitan's wife and two children, his brother and several other relatives were with him when he was murdered, and in a frenzy of grief they knelt beside the body and bathed their faces with the blood that flowed from the wound. The stabbing was the outcome of a street altercation of which Ziroto was merely a spectator at first. The old man became enraged as the fight proceeded, and suddenly running forward, plunged a knife into Guardiani's neck. Within a very few minutes a thousand Italians, aroused by the frantic actions of the murdered man's relatives, were rioting among themselves and the reserves of two police stations were called out. Before the arrest of Ziroto was made an riot quelled, two detectives and several uniformed men were severely handled.

London Still Feeling Gay.

London, Aug. 11.—The festivities in London were continued yesterday. There were considerable crowds almost all day long in the vicinity of Buckingham palace and along the route of the procession, viewing the decorations and watching the flow of notable personages to and from the various thanksgiving services. In the evening the Canadian arch, which was an exceptional novelty for Sunday was brilliantly illuminated, was a great center of attraction and served to bring an immense concourse of people into the neighborhood.

Brutal Robbers.

Dayton, O., Aug. 11.—Jacob Mumma, an aged farmer who lives alone north of the city, was tortured by masked robbers who broke into his house last night, and is in a critical condition as a result of his injuries. Mumma attempted to defend himself with a shotgun, but his aim was bad and he was overcome and bound. The robbers poured coal oil on his feet and started a blaze to compel him to reveal the hiding place of money he was supposed to have, but they secured only an insignificant sum.

Seven Guests Perish.

San Angelo, Tex., Aug. 11.—The London hotel was burned yesterday morning with loss of $75,000. Seven persons are known to have been burned, that many persons having been recovered, and three other guests of the hotel are missing.

Death of Aged Actress.

New York, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Eliza Young, the oldest actress of the American stage, died today at the Actors' Fund home, West Brighton, Staten Island. She fell two weeks ago and had one of her hip bones broken. Mrs. Young was ninety-two years old.

THE LONG STRIKE

The Strike of Anthracite Miners On Its Fourteenth Week.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 11.—The fourteenth week of the anthracite miners' strike will begin today. President Mitchell is authority for the statement, made yesterday, that the strikers are in good shape. Contributions to the relief fund are coming in from many quarters now and the dissatisfaction which was first evinced over the distribution has now disappeared and the strikers have settled down to what they believe is going to be a much longer siege than was first anticipated. While the strike leaders are inclined to throw cold water on all reports that an attempt may be made to resume mining at an early day in the Wyoming region, it would not be at all surprising should one or two of the mines in this section be started up this week. The same story has been told for weeks past, but there was a well authenticated report in circulation last night that the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company may start up work at its Wanamie colliery some day this week. At the office of the company, however, those in charge refuse to give out any information.

A general review of the whole strike region shows that unless the operators can break the ranks of the strikers by starting up a colliery here and there, the men will be inclined to remain out for some time yet. The amount of relief to be distributed will not satisfy all, but the miners seem to be willing to make some sacrifices in that direction in the hope that eventually they will win.

Kansas City Soaked.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 11.—A windstorm that broke about 4 o'clock yesterday morning and raged for half an hour, accompanied by lightning and rain, is said to have been the severest in fifteen years. In the business streets numerous plate-glass fronts were broken, signs and awnings torn down and rickety structures partly demolished. In the residence districts several thousand trees were overthrown and numerous windows smashed. At daybreak the sidewalks of the city were littered with rubbish and branches of trees. No loss of life or injury to persons has been reported, as few people were abroad at the time of the storm. Nearly every household suffered some loss, but probably no single item of damage exceeds several hundred dollars, sustained by merchants who lost plate windows.

A peculiar feature of the storm was the drowning of thousands of sparrows. The rain came down so suddenly that they were unable to find places of shelter after having been washed from their roosts.

Texas Negroes Resist Arrest.

Columbia, Tex., Aug. 11.—County Attorney Ed C. Smith was killed and Deputy Sheriff Cochran Willis wounded last night by a party of negroes, who were attempting to prevent the arrest of one of their number. Deputy Sheriff Williams first attempted to arrest one of the negroes and was fired on, the bullet taking effect in arm. He called for assistance and a number of white men responded, among them County Attorney Smith. The negroes nearby rallied to the support of the black, and about fifty shots were fired. Smith's spine being cut by a bullet, which produced death. The negroes escaped by swimming the Brazos river. The sheriff has a number of possums out and has offered a heavy reward. He has appealed to the governor for an additional reward.

Fatal Collision.

Danville, Va., Aug. 11.—In a collision on the Southern Railway just beyond Wall Creek yesterday between a local northbound passenger train and a southbound freight train, Jerome Carter, Augusta, Ga., and an unknown man were killed outright and several others seriously injured. The injured were brought to a hospital here. The engineers and firemen and postal clerks jumped and were all more or less bruised. Bernard Carter, John and Oscar Skinnett of Lynchburg were painfully hurt. None of the passengers was among the seriously injured.

Bank Looter Arrested.

Denver, Col., Aug. 11.—Leonard M. Dingle, former teller of the First National bank of Aspen, was arrested in this city charged with embezzling $40,000 from the bank. It is said that speculations have been going on for some time and that the money was lost in gambling. It is also said that the gamblers of Aspen have returned about $15,000 to the bank and Dingle's bonds with a surety company will make up the larger portion of the remainder of the shortage.

Endeavorers Go Home.

Richmond, Ind., August 11.—The Friends' International Christian Endeavor convention closed last night. The executive committee will select the next meeting place. Albert W. Linton of Brooklyn, N. Y., Prof. Elbert Russell of Chicago, and Dr. Rufus M. Jones of Philadelphia, delivered addresses yesterday.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

An Anarchist Given the Grand Jury At Decatur—Dynamite Accident.

Balloonist Killed—"Klondike King" Lory in Trouble—A Promising Indiana Horse.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 11.—The trial of Wilbur S. Sherwell, the former policeman who is in jail here, charged with having choked to death three women, will probably be held in September, as the attorneys have agreed to have the case called then. The trial will consume several days. Sherwell has been in jail for over a year, and it is charged that certain officials here want the trial postponed until after the election. Sherwell looks well in spite of his long confinement and eats and sleeps well. He recently asked the jailer not to permit anyone to come into the jail to see him.

AERONAUT KILLED

Frank Reed Falls From a Balloon at Millersburg Ind.

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 11.—While making a balloon ascension at a harvest jubilee held at Millersburg, seven miles east of here, Saturday afternoon, Frank Reed, a Hartford City aeronaut, was killed. The big airship had been inflated and attached to it was a 20-foot trapeze. As it was released the attachment caught in the guy wires and Reed was crushed. Three of his ribs were broken and a gash was cut in his head. He died a few minutes later.

"Klondike King," Up Against It.

Petersburg, Ind., Aug. 11.—Frank Lory, the Klondike king of southern Indiana, is in trouble. The heirs of Daniel Gregg of Danville, Ill., filed suit in the Pike circuit court for the recovery of $28,000, which, it is charged, was fraudulently obtained. Over a year ago Lory traded the Gregg 280 shares of Yukon Gold Mine stock for a 1,000-acre farm situated in the west part of this county. It is set out in the complaint to set aside the conveyance of the farm from Frank Lory to a brother that the gold mine stock is worthless, and that it was through deception that the deal was consummated. Other suits will be filed against Lory in a short time.

Goshen's School Building Row.

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 11.—The controversy over Goshen's proposed new $50,000 high school building, which has been pending for over six months, has culminated in injunction proceedings. Attorneys Vall and Wehmeyer Saturday filed the suit against the school board of Goshen and the members of the board of education in the name of John F. Scott, a prominent manufacturer and heavy property owner and at present a member of the city council (though not on the council when permission was granted the board to erect the school building), who represents a number of heavy taxpayers.

Man Dynamited.

Edinburg, Ind., Aug. 11.—John Cooper and two other men drove into Edinburg Saturday, procured a lot of dynamite, and drove to Flatrock river, east of here. Soon after noon a report of dynamite was heard and word soon reached here that Cooper had one hand and an ear blown off and was otherwise injured. Cooper's companions hastened with him to his home at Mount Auburn, where his wounds were dressed. His recovery is doubtful. Cooper is about fifty-two years of age and unmarried.

Drove Out Anarchist.

Decatur, Ind., Aug. 11.—An anarchist whose name was not learned made a speech on the streets here. He condemned all rulers and expressed satisfaction that McKinley was assassinated, saying he was glad he was dead. While he was speaking a man in the audience told him in emphatic terms to get out of town or he would be hanged. The anarchist started to leave and the crowd followed, making threats. He left the city.

Cincinnati Ball Club Sued.

Indianapolis, Aug. 11.—The Cincinnati baseball club of the National League has passed from the ownership of John T. Brush of Indianapolis to George B. Cox. Mr. Brush turned over all the stock, except one-twentieth, which he could not secure, and received $150,000 for his holdings. It is understood that Mr. Brush will devote his time and means to the New York team.

Endeavorers Go Home.

Richmond, Ind., August 11.—The Friends' International Christian Endeavor convention closed last night. The executive committee will select the next meeting place. Albert W. Linton of Brooklyn, N. Y., Prof. Elbert Russell of Chicago, and Dr. Rufus M. Jones of Philadelphia, delivered addresses yesterday.

CAPITAL CHAT

Senator Fairbanks' Movements—Another Interurban Project.

Indianapolis, Aug. 11.—Senator Fairbanks will return to Indianapolis from the East early next week, and from then on he will be unusually busy. The senator from Indiana will give a large part of his time, however, to making speeches over the state. He is scheduled to address several old settlers' reunions and similar gatherings before the campaign opens. Next Thursday he will speak at a gathering of old settlers of Jay and Randolph counties at Ridgeville. August 16 he will be at the Bathany assembly to deliver an address at the Morgan county gathering to celebrate Patriots' Day. Sept. 21 he will speak at a gathering of old settlers of Tippecanoe county in Mohair's Grove, Lafayette. Sept. 28 he is scheduled for a speech at the old settler's meeting in Westport, Delaware county. The senator has several invitations to make speeches in different cities during the time intervening before Sept. 1, but it is not known yet which he will accept, if any. Sept. 1 he will go to Kansas City, Mo., to deliver the principal address in the Labor Day celebration in that city. Senator Fairbanks will probably not deliver any political speeches until the opening of the campaign, Sept. 20, and his itinerary after that time has not been decided on by the state committee. Efforts will be made, however, to enable him to speak in as many localities as possible. He will leave the making of engagements for speech-making to the state committee, the same as Senator Beveridge has done, so towns that wish him during the campaign should conduct their negotiations through the committee.

Another big interurban line fled articles of incorporation with Auditor of State Hart Saturday afternoon. Some believe it is a branch of the Union Traction company, and there are indications to bear them out, but George F. McCulloch, president of the Union company, denies the story. He says he does not know anything about the new line. It is styled the Muncie & Portland Traction company, and the articles announce that its purposes are to "construct, own, operate and maintain a street railroad and an interurban railroad from and in the city of Muncie, through and in the town of Albany, the city of Dunkirk and the town of Ridgely, to the city of Portland." The capital stock is given as $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares. The directors are Garrett O. Driscoll, manager of the Muncie Star, McCulloch's paper at Muncie; Truman O. Boyd, Jordan A. Jaqua, Frank H. Snyder, James H. Lefler, Nathan B. Hawkins, and John Dittamore.

Indianapolis purchasers are getting more and more in the habit of buying grain from the Chicago market, and this fact is not relished very much by people of the city. The fact that the market at Chicago is so much more extensive is in the main responsible. There will be little effect on the farmers of the state, for they may sell their crops through the same brokers and elevator men that they have heretofore.

A fact that is causing remark in Indianapolis these days is that the semblance of competition between the Interstate and the Union stockyards, is being continued when it was generally supposed they would be consolidated by this time. It is believed a fear that some other yard might enter the city, has deterred the union.

Among the new concerns which filed articles of incorporation this month was the Indiana Baling Machine company of Indianapolis. They will place on the market a machine that will enable every farmer to bale his own hay, straw, shredded fodder, wool or in fact anything that can be baled.

MONDAY, AUGUST 11, 1902.

SENATOR McMILLAN, of Michigan, died suddenly at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., Sunday night.

KING EDWARD has been crowned and the fortune tellers who said with so much assurance that he would never live to receive the crown have been discredited.

SOME of the Bryan democrats of Indiana cannot forget that Wm. O'Brien, the democratic chairman, is a national banker and has always been classed with the "gold bugs". Now they say O'Brien has used his prestige as state chairman and got himself nominated for state senator. This is not suiting the 16 to 1 crowd a little bit and they are not neglecting an opportunity to say so.

SATURDAY the democrats of Bartholomew and Decatur counties met at Columbus to nominate a candidate for joint senator and a candidate for prosecutor. After two or three hours of wrangling they succeeded in nominating George Tremin for prosecutor and David Wilson, for senator both of Decatur county. Bartholomew county had candidates for both places and had the most votes but they failed to get together. The wrangling before the voting began aroused the anger of some of the delegates so they refused to vote. Some of them went away swearing vengeance which they propose to have at the polls.

Three Pocket Books.

During the day three pocket books were picked up by the conductors on the J. M. & I. trains and turned over to J. W. Wray and his assistant, T. J. Gore, at the depot here. Parties had left them on seats they were occupying in the cars. One seems to be the property of Mrs. Kate Schwartz, another August Detour, and the third has nothing to identify it.

"Red" Has Skipped.

Preipke, the Reds' third baseman, better known as "Red," has shaken the dust of Seymour off his feet and departed for another sphere of usefulness. Unless reports are at fault he forgot a board bill and several other accounts charged to him. "Red" seems to have a bad memory.

ENROUTE TO CALIFORNIA.
August 6, (4:10 p. m.)

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

As we have a long ride ahead of us I thought I would write you a few lines. Our party are all well and in the best of spirits. Our trip was made with but few stops of interest until 6:30 Monday evening when we reached Sante Fe, New Mexico. There we were met by the Governor, city officials with a Mexican band and carriages for the ladies and escorted us through the principal streets and to the K. of P. hall, where an elegant banquet was served and all seemed to do their utmost to entertain us. After spending a pleasant evening there our train left at 11 and reached Albuquerque at 4:45 Tuesday morning where we spent two hours viewing that city. At this place we were also royally treated and when the train was ready to depart at 7:30 fifty baskets of fruit were loaded on the train as a compliment of the K. of P. lodge.

The next stop was at Laguna, a place of rare interest, having an Indian population of four hundred living on the top of mountains of solid rock in houses built entirely of mud and of unique shapes. Here we spent one hour. An Indian dance was given which was interesting and amusing to all. From this place we traveled through the deserts of Arizona and encountered a sand storm for three hours and it was bad enough I can assure you.

All our party retired early last night and arrived at the Grand Canyon of Arizona at 5 o'clock this morning. This place is surely one of nature's most beautiful spots and no pen can describe its grandeur. This canyon is 250 miles long, 13 miles wide and 8,000 feet deep. The writer was one of a party of six, consisting of Dr. G. G. Creasie, Calvin Dobbins, Glen Schwing, George Bartlett, W. R. Schupbach and myself, who made the perilous trip to the bottom on the backs of Indian ponies, a trip that is made possible by winding along the edges of precipices over a path about three feet wide. In hundreds of places a misstep of the pony would hurl the rider to a depth of thousands of feet and to eternity. Yet the faithful and careful little ponies carried us safely down to the bottom and up again, making a trip of fourteen miles. A few of our party walked down this trail but only a few reached the top again without help. Others viewed the canyon from the rim and all enjoyed it greatly. Eight of the most pleasant hours were spent at this wonderful spot.

We are now speeding through western Arizona and will reach the Redland in California at 8 o'clock tomorrow. All join in sending regards to friends at home.

Respectfully,
W. L. JOHNSON.

Al Williams, of Spraytown, was in town today.

Mrs. John Himler went to Kurtz this morning to visit friends.

THE STATE'S DEBT

Concise History of Its Creation and Its Reduction.

MONUMENT TO MISMANAGEMENT

Of the State's Fiscal Affairs—How the State Expended a Fortune in Interest and Interest on Interest During the Two Decades Preceding the Present Era of Republican Control—Some Facts Which Every Tax-Payer Ought to Know.

When the Republican party first came into power in Indiana in 1861 it inherited from a Democratic administration a state funded debt of $10,179,267—a debt which, the financial resources of the state considered, would be equivalent to an obligation of forty million dollars at this time. For ten years thereafter the Republicans had control of the governorship, and most of the time of the legislature. During this period the state debt was reduced $6,011,760, and left at $4,167,507, a wonderful result when it is remembered that this era covered the war period, when the state's expenditures were necessarily unusual in amount.

For the next ten years the state was under the practically uninterrupted control of Democratic leadership. The debt-paying policy was abandoned, and during that decade the state debt was increased $830,671. With a continuance of the policy maintained by Republican state officials during the preceding decade, it would have been entirely wiped out. Instead, it rose to $4,598,178.34.

In 1881 and 1882 two years of Republican management ensued. During this period the state debt was reduced $121,570.

Then followed, under Democratic management, what is by all odds the most discreditable period in the fiscal history of the state. During the decade ending with 1890 only five states in the entire Union increased their bonded indebtedness. In these five states the total increase was $1,316,425. In Indiana alone the increase aggregated more than four million dollars, three times as much as the total increase of bonded indebtedness in all other states combined. During the same period thirty-two states decreased their bonded indebtedness sixty million dollars. In 1890 when the present era of Republican management began, the debt was $7,529,615.12.

In the seven years of Republican fiscal management which have ensued, the state debt has been decreased $4,326,000, until it stands today at the lowest figure in a half century of the state's history, namely, $2,837,615.12.

How It Was Done.

A remarkable fact, is it not, something more than coincidence, in all human probability, that during each of three periods of Democratic control the state debt has been increased, while during each of three periods of Republican control, the state debt has been largely decreased? Every dollar of indebtedness contracted for a half century is Democratic, nearly every dollar of indebtedness discharged during the same period Republican!

It is not possible to shift from the shoulders of Indiana Democratic leadership the direct responsibility for this piling up of the state's indebtedness, particularly that accumulated from 1883 to 1891, when the state debt grew with a swiftness unprecedented. During all that period the state's expenditures were largely exceeding its revenues, yet, despite the recommendations of successive governors, Democratic legislatures refused to make provision for the deficit, handing down to posterity an obligation created for meeting current expenses, and resulting not only in an enormous interest charge, but one extending to interest on interest. The excess of receipts over expenditures from 1884 to 1889 amounted to more than three million dollars, which was provided for by the simple process of adding it to the state debt. In 1880 the ordinary expenses of the state amounted to $844,285. By 1889 they had increased to $1,320,502, and yet the tax levy rate fixed in the seventies was maintained by legislatures too cowardly to meet the situation face to face, preferring to throw the responsibility upon their successors in office, and compel the state to meet the enormous cost of their expensive demagoguery. On July 31, 1890, the Indianapolis Sentinel said: "The state debt itself is not of alarming dimensions. It is only $8,540,615.12." Yet it was higher than it had been for thirty years; it had been doubled in a decade, and at that time the total interest payment of seven hundred and fifty dollars a day aggregated annually one-fourth of the state's revenues. In 1889 alone the deficit was $882,962.98.

The New Tax Law.

On August 25, 1890, the Republican state organ predicted that regardless of the complexion of the next legislature, the disclosure of the facts connected with this era of fiscal mismanagement would compel action with a view to preventing the making of large appropriations without providing the means of paying them. There would be, it predicted, a new departure in financial legislation and management. "If the next legislature is Democratic it will be forced by public opinion to adopt a policy very different from that which has prevailed during the past few years." This prediction was fulfilled. The legislature of 1891 passed a new tax law, and increased the levy to 18 cents.

As to the beneficent character of this law the most extravagant claims have been made. It has been said that it put all the added burdens of taxation upon the great corporations, particularly the railroads. The figures do not corroborate this theory. Under that law the total appraisement of railroad property was raised $84,832,866; of express and sleeping car property, $1,172,340. The total appraisement of lands and improvements was increased $152,261,225; the valuation of lots and improvements was increased $92,401,204, and of personal property $56,914,458. The railroads, express companies etc., bore less than one-fourth of the total increase in appraisement, and, as before stated, there was a substantial increase in the levy all 'round. It may be noted in this connection that under the old law Democratic tax boards had appraised the value of railroad property during the years 1883 to 1886 inclusive, at from fifty-three to fifty-five million dollars; in 1887 a Republican tax board promptly increased the appraisement to sixty-two million, and by 1890 had raised it to nearly seventy millions; in other words a Republican tax board had increased the valuation of railroad property fourteen millions, or nearly 25 per cent over the Democratic figure, within the short space of four years. Under the present era of Republican control the appraisement of the property of railroads, express companies, etc., has been increased nearly thirty million dollars, nine million dollars at the recent sitting of the tax board. The appraisement on the property of express and sleeping car companies fixed by a Democratic board soon after the new law was passed was about one-fourth of the present figure.

Corporations Were Favored.

An interesting confession has been made by the few persons with assurance enough to defend the record of Democratic leadership on the state debt, namely, that up to the time of the enactment of the new tax law, the large corporations were paying much less than their fair share of the taxes. For nearly twenty years prior to the enactment of the law, Democratic leadership was in almost uninterrupted control of the legislative branch of the state government. It was during this period that corporate holdings increased most rapidly in this state; yet, in preference to shifting a greater portion of the burden upon them, Democratic leadership permitted, year after year, deficits in the state revenue which resulted in an increase of nearly $5,000,000 in the state debt before the abuse was corrected. Since that time the people have been compelled to pay the price of this immunity by scaling down a state debt representing not only extravagant administration and unbusinesslike management, but corporate immunity from reasonable taxation.

More Recent History.

The new tax law added to the revenues of the state nearly $1,500,000 annually; for the two years immediately succeeding its enactment the total increase in revenue, to be exact, was $2,830,975, and yet during these two years the $8,000,000 state debt was decreased not a single cent. During the third year of the operations of the new tax law, Democratic fiscal officers paid one-fourth of the increase in revenue, or $340,000, on the state debt. The next year they paid $570,000, and in January of the following year $400,000. Of this total payment of $1,350,000 on the state debt, $720,000 came from the general government, a repayment of the direct tax paid by the state during the war. With five million dollars in increased revenues in four years, they actually paid only $580,000 on the state debt therefrom. In seven years of Republican fiscal control nearly five million dollars has been paid on the state debt, and if we subtract from this amount the $700,000 secured from the general government as a refund on account of interest on bonds issued by Indiana during the war, there still remains to the credit of Republican management a reduction of the state debt aggregating much in excess of four million dollars, with the certainty that every dollar of the state debt, excepting some bonds deferred by law, will be paid during the administration of Governor Durbin. All this despite a reduction in the tax levy from 18 to 14 cents, and the expenditure of a million and a half dollars in the enlargement and improvement of the state's institutions. All this as the result of business management of the state's business affairs.

A vote for Republican legislative candidates is a vote against the state debt.

Melons for the Governor.

A few days ago J. H. Hodapp and
S. E. Carter sent Governor Durbin three baskets of as fine nutmegs as grow in Jackson county, which means that they were first class. The Governor acknowledged receiving them and expressed his thanks in a very nice letter.

All Were Saved.

"For years I suffered such untold misery from Bronchitis," writes J. H.
Johnson, of Broughton, Ga., "that often I was unable to work. Then when everything else failed, I was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Discovey for Consumption. My wife suffered intensely from Asthma, till it cured her, and all our experience goes to show it is the best croup medicine in the world." A trial will convince you it's unrivaled for Throat and Lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at
W. F. Peter Drug Co.

THE TENT MEETINGS.

Great Crowds Heard Evangelist
Smiley's Powerful Sermons
Sunday.

The gale of wind in the afternoon of Sunday threatened serious disaster to the tent and later a rumor spread over town that the tent was down and that no evening meeting could be held.
But when evening came it looked as if the whole town was turning out for the last of the great union meetings.
From every direction they came and poured through the gate until it was packed to the gates, people sitting all round the platform and completely filling the roofed addition south.

Morning and night offerings were made to remunerate the evangelists for their work and the results were very satisfactory. The expenses of $150 or more were all provided for before they were willing to receive a cent, so that they go leaving the committee with no debts to harass them.

The Sunday services were largely attended and the sermons the best of the whole series. That of last night on "The Foolish Farmer," was especially graphic and logical, entertaining and convincing. A number were converted during the meeting.

At the close of the last meeting the great multitude of people passed in single file before the platform where Messrs. Smiley and McKinsie, with the five pastors of the churches uniting in the meeting stood in line, to shake hands with them all, and while the choir sang over and over "God be with you 'till we meet again," the parting words were spoken. Some were in tears and all seemed to have become strongly attached to the evangelists.

It would seem that aside from the additions the churches will have, great good has come to them from the union feature of the work. To some it seems that Christians are divided and that the denominations are jealous of each other and have little or no mutual love. That illusion has been dispelled. Members of one family could hardly have worked together with more harmony, consideration and real good will and affection than have these five churches. No doubt they themselves appreciate their unity better than before the meeting.

Dr. Smiley is to spend ten days with his family at Winona and then he will go to Philadelphia for tent meetings. Mr. McKinsey is to spend a week or more with friends in Delaware, Ohio, and then join Dr. Smiley in the Quaker City. The memory of them here is fragrant. They are men of strength and ability and, better yet, men of large hearts and great faith in the divinity of their mission. For what they did they will be kindly remembered and for what they are they will be warmly loved.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

REUNITED.

Let us begin, dear love, where we left off;
Tie up the broken threads of that old dream
And go on happy as before and seem Lovers again, though all the world may scorn.

Let us forget the cold, malodorous fate
Who made our loving hearts his idle toys
And once more live in the sweet old joys
Of happy love. Nay, it is not too late!

Forget the deep plowed furrows in my brow!
Forget the silver gleaming in my hair!
Look only in my eyes. Oh, darling, there
The old love shines no longer than there now!

Tie up the broken threads and let us go,
Like reunited lovers, hand in hand,
Back yet onward to the sunny land
Of our To Be, which was our Long Ago.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

PERFUME AND DISEASE.

Nature Practical, Not Poetical, In Scattering Sweet Blossoms.

A French physician has decided that perfumes prevent people from taking certain diseases. During an epidemic his attention was attracted to the fact that persons who constantly used perfumes escaped taking the disease. But he found that the more delicate perfumes, like violet, lavender, attar of rose, were more efficacious than musk and strong, rank essences.

Becerra, the famous Italian botanist, long ago advised city officials to plant trees and shrubs with odoriferous blossoms or fragrant leaves along the highways, courts and parks of cities, because these strong odors produce ozone, and thereby purify the air and make the city more healthful to human beings confined to city streets or narrow, unclean courts and alleys.

Indeed nature teaches us some of her delicate mysteries and far-reaching processes when she plants tuberose, orange trees, the night blooming cereus and other shrubs and blossoms with such rich and oft well high overpowering odors in tropic lands to neutralize the danger of fevers and malaria arising from dense vegetation of damp, unwholesome marshes and rivers.

Who of us can resist the charm to the senses of great masses of white and purple lilacs with countless bees humming round the fragrant spikes of blossoms—the pure, delightful perfume not too strong in the open air under the radiant sun of May? And lilacs are so vigorous, are easily grown on any soil and very long lived. Only an expert could tell her old lilacs on a great grandfather's old place are, with the guarded trunk and vigorous masses of green and lilacs in May.

BLAMED THE GOVERNMENT.

But Had the Letters in His Pocket All the Time.

"See here, young fellow," shouted an angry village business man with his head up close to the stamp window in the postoffice. "You are a pretty lot of incompetents that the government hires to transact the nation's mail business."

"What's the matter, sir?" asked the clerk, calm by long familiarity with such outbursts.

"Why, I mailed a letter to Cleveland last week that was of the utmost importance, and it has not reached its destination yet. I have come here to kick, and to kick right hard."

"You're in the wrong pew, my dear sir. Go to the superintendent of mails, and he will fix you up."

The indignant "business man" was passed on from department to department until he finally ran up against the authority competent to handle the matter.

"Such things do sometimes happen," he was informed in the conciliatory words of the superintendent. "We'll send our tracer after your letter. To whom was it addressed? Tell us where and when you mailed it."

"It was a plain envelope," explained the still angry customer. "I usually use a 'return' envelope, but had reason for using a plain one in this instance. Here is one (fumbling in his pocket) like it. By George, let me look at that again. I'll be hanged if that isn't the very letter. I haven't even addressed it yet."

As he vanished down the corridor there was no suggestion of apology left behind. —Detroit Free Press.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

A VETERAN'S STORY OF A TASSELED TURKISH FEZ.

The Grewsome Incident in Which He Participated at the Second Battle of Manassas—A Brave Boy and His Dying Request.

"Whenever I see a tasseled Turkish fez," said a Confederate veteran whose attention had been attracted by a smoking cap of that pattern in a Canal street window, "I am reminded of a curious and rather ghoulish incident of my campaigning days. It was on the morning after the second battle of Manassas," he continued in response to a request for the story, "and several of us from my company had gone over to the field in the hope of picking up a few things that we badly needed and for which the dead had no further use—waterproofs, for instance, and sound canteens.

"During the previous day's engagement you may remember that a regiment of freshly recruited New York zouaves held the crest of a hill and were charged and almost annihilated by Hood's brigade. They were mowed down like ripened grain and fell so thickly that their corpses literally carpeted the earth. I dare say it was as awful a slaughter, considering the number engaged, as occurred anywhere in the course of the war.

"Well, we hadn't gone very far when we came to this hill and began to get among the dead men. The poor fellows had been mustered into service less than a week before, and they were said to be the most gorgeously uniformed military troop ever organized. They wore scarlet Turkish trousers, blue jackets embellished with gold bullion braid and purple fezes with long pend ent tassels.

"Being just from the outfitters, all this fine regalia was perfectly fresh and new, and somehow or other it added to the ghastliness of the spectacle on the hillside. The corpses were in all sorts of strange postures, and their fantastic costumes gave them an air of horrible grotesqueness that I couldn't begin to describe in words.

"However, to come to my point, I had picked up a fez to carry away as a relic and was about to leave the spot when I happened to notice a much handsomer specimen on the head of a little zouave stretched out, stiff and stark, a few yards away, with a handkerchief over his face. I stepped up to make a 'swap,' but had barely touched the tasseled when a low, sweet toned voice under the handkerchief said, 'Please don't!'

"For a moment," continued the veteran, "that unpleasant protest, coming from what I had supposed to be a corpse, made my hair bristle on my head. Then I lifted the handkerchief and was shocked to see the delicate, refined features of a boy not over 15. He was pale as death and evidently desperately wounded, but he looked at me calmly. 'My God,' I exclaimed, 'what a lad you are to be here!' 'I'm afraid I'm dying unless I have help,' he replied. 'Do you think the surgeons will be around pretty soon?' 'The Lord knows!' I groaned, for the boy's courage touched me to the heart. 'Your surgeons have all run away, and we only have a few, with more wounded than they can attend to.' 'Then I guess all I can do is to lie here quietly and die,' he said in the same gentle voice. 'Can you get me a little water before you go?'

"I took his canteen and hurried down to a branch at the foot of the hill, where the first thing I saw, by the way, was the corpse of a zouave floating in a pool. I went up the stream far enough to get out of the horrible death zone, filled the canteen with pure water and was soon back at the boy's side. I gave him a drink, and he thanked me. 'Is there nothing else I can do?' I asked awkwardly, because I knew our company was under early marching orders that morning and that it would be impossible for me to linger much longer. 'Nothing at all, thank you,' he replied. 'No message to anybody?' 'No; nothing, thanks.'

"I turned away most reluctantly and had gone only a few yards when I heard his thin voice calling me back. 'Excuse me,' he said, 'but I want you to accept this as a present,' and he handed me his fine purple fez. 'No, no,' I exclaimed, greatly embarrassed; 'I couldn't think of taking it. When I started to a little while ago, I thought you—you—' 'Thought I was dead, of course,' he interrupted. 'Well, I soon will be, and that other fez will do me just as well. Please put it on my head and take mine.' I saw that he would be hurt unless I did as he desired, so I took the fez and went away.

"In less than half an hour our company was on the march, and, needless to say, I never heard anything more of the little child zouave. He was badly wounded and undoubtedly died where I left him. I kept the fez a long time," added the veteran, "but it was finally lost, with other odds and ends, in the general confusion following the war. I'd give some money for it today." —New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Good Effects of Apple Eating.

The apple is such common fruit that few are familiar with its remarkable efficiency properties. Everybody ought to know that the very best thing they can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. The apple is an excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other vegetable known. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth. That is not all. The apple agglutinates the surplus acids of the stomach, helps the kidney secretions and is one of the best preventives known of diseases of the throat. —Journal of Agriculture.

WHEN GARFIELD LAY DYING

A Pathetic Incident of His Removal to Long Branch.

A pathetic incident is related apropos of the day of fasting and prayer which was appointed by all the governors of the United States at the time President Garfield was removed from Washington to Long Branch in the hope that the change might help him to recover from the bullet wounds inflicted by Guiteau.

"Crete," said the president to his brave little wife about 11 on that Thursday morning as the ringing strokes from the belfry of the Episcopal church almost across from the cottage reached his ears, "what are they ringing that bell for?"

"That?" said Mrs. Garfield, who had been waiting for the surprise. "That's the church where we were when you first came down. They're all going to pray for you to get well," and, falling on her knees, she said, "And I'm going to pray, too, James, that it may be soon, for I know already that the other prayer has been heard."

From where he lay Garfield could see the carriages draw up and group after group go in. He could even hear the subdued refrain of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," as it was borne by its heavenly ward way. Thrilled with emotion, then he closed his eyes and turned his face as a sweet woman's voice arose singing from one of Sir Michael Costa's oratorios. "Turn thou unto me and have mercy upon me," sang the voice. "for I am desolate—I am desolate and afflicted; the troubles of my heart are enlarged. Oh, bring thou me out of my distresses—out of my distresses—my God."

The people in the church sat almost spellbound under the voice, for the singer was affected deeply and made it seem to all, what it must have been to her, a prayer in music.

FLOWER AND TREE.

A few pieces of charcoal dropped into the water assist in preserving cut flowers.

The hole for a tree should be made wide and deep and the bottom be filled with rich earth.

The seeds of nearly all forest trees do best if not allowed to become dry before planting.

For the finest flowers sow pansy seed in the fall. Protect the young plants through the winter, and you will be well rewarded.

The sweet william is a biennial, but will sow their own seeds and come up year after year, as do hollyhocks, thus making them practically perennials.

One of the handsomest perennials that flower in July is the digitalis, which has long spikes of blue thimble shaped flowers. It makes a striking clump. The principal advantage in fall sowing of flower seeds is that the plants grow stronger, root deeper and flower earlier and longer than those from spring sown seed.

The grape is one of the most desirable fruits to plant. It is inexpensive to get a start with, it bears early, it is productive and easily managed, and the fruit is delicious and wholesome.

Couldn't Stand Satire.

A burglar, while attempting to rob a bloated bondholder of Maryville, by mistake got into the humble residence of an editor next door. After unsuccessfully fumbling about for suitable assets for some time he was disgusted to observe the tenant of the house sitting up in bed and laughing at him.

"Ain't you old Skinderson, the capitalist?" inquired the housebreaker. "Nary time," chuckled the journalist. "I'm the editor of The Screaming Eagle."

"Jerusalem!" said the burglar, looking at his stemwinder. "And here I've been wasting four precious hours on this branch alms-house. I say, old quill driver, you never poke fun at your subscribers, do you?" "Not the cash ones."

"Exactly," said the burglar, taking out his wallet. "Here's six months' subscription to call this thing square. If there's one thing on earth I can't stand, it's satire." —Tit Bits.

Personal Elements of Success. "Personality," as it is called, is a thing apart, a light that cannot be hidden. It is difficult to describe, being in its nature variable. Often it is composed of one part talent and two parts character, and he who has it may in spite of other deficiencies command success.

Large successes are attainable by the union of aptitude and concentration of purpose, coincident with opportunity; the meeting of the man and the occasion, the suiting of the word to the action, the action to the word; self confidence, unflinching courage, absolute probity. —Henry Watterson in Success.

Inherited Prowess.

"To what," asked the young woman with the notebook, "do you attribute your remarkable power in training these animals and keeping them in subjection?"

"Well," replied Mlle. Castella, the lady wonder of the arena, "I think I inherited it from my mother. She was a strong minded woman. My father was a regular bear, and she had to subdue him about once a day as long as she lived." —Chicago Tribune.

They Hold More.

"Do you ever wish you were a girl?" asked the visitor who was waiting in the reception room.

"Only at Christmas time," answered the boy, who was lingering in the doorway.

"Why do you wish it then?" "Because of the stockings they wear," was the prompt reply. —Chicago Post.
